RENOITE LIKES HORNSILVER AS MINING CENTER

H. H. Donogh, representing Reno mining men, is in Hornsilver for an extended stay. He was at Hornsilver last December and was so impressed with the wonderful surface showings that he feels Hornsilver is the future district of the southern part of the state. After his visit in December he made up his mind to arrange his affairs for an extended stay. He made a trip into Goldfield in January, but was caught in a storm and so he returned to Reno to wait for spring, says the Tribune.

Donogh expects to stay at Hornsilver at least two months and inspect the entire district. He is one of the best known operators in Nevada, having been in every district of the last 18 years, so his unqualified endorsement of Hornsilver and his optimism for its future verifies the statements of some of the Goldfielders who have maintained that the development of the Orleans is one of the biggest and most attractive features of any mining camp in Nevada. Donogh says of the Orleans: "I made a trip through the mine on my first visit and the development at that time was the biggest surprise I ever had. The big vein and the easy mining is the principal thing that attracted my attention. The water problem for a mill is very simple when you consider that a line about eight miles will bring all the water needed, and all the year around. I don't know of any camp that has such an abundance of water at the very door. I am, of course, speaking of the desert country. It takes capital, but that will come just as sure as the sun shines; you cannot keep it away when the time comes. I will visit the Orleans again to make a comparison of the additional ore opened up since my first visit, and then will get out into the hills and verify my first impression of the district."

DENUDED TURKEY "CAME TO"

Chloroformed Bird, Minus Feathers, Very Much Alive When the Anesthetic Had Worn Off.

One of New Jersey's most conservative towns is consumed with mirth, and the objects of said mirth are a young, kind-hearted bride and bridegroom. The bridegroom, it appears, took a chance on a turkey that was being raffled off in his New York office and a few days later was notified that he had won the pompous bird. Highly delighted, he gave his address and ordered the prize sent out to his New Jersey home.

In the course of time the bird arrived at its destination, and arrived, much to the surprise of the bride and bridegroom, in a wire crate very much alive, remarks the New York Sun. As their experience in executing birds was nil and the bride "couldn't bear to have its pretty head chopped off," they decided to chloroform it. Consequently, the next night, when the bridegroom got home from the office, the anesthetic was administered on a lovely lace handkerchief and then the bird was plucked and put into the ice box. About 9 o'clock that night the peace and quiet around the library lamp were disturbed by strange noises in the kitchen.

Hand in hand the newlyweds bravely descended upon the kitchen expecting to find the ever-loved-for-burglar. But no burglar was to be seen. Looking into the direction of the ice box the brave young bridegroom swung open the doors and out stepped a very naked turkey. After a few pounds of the kitchen with considerable flapping of wings he began picking up the crumbs on the floor. The bride and bridegroom looked at each other in horror and fled from the kitchen. An hour or so later the services of a neighbor were called upon and this time the turkey was anesthetized with an ax.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

By BALLIET

DONT try to carry water on both shoulders. That's the way of a Mexican lawyer who takes both sides of a case and then collects his fee from which ever one wins.

POSITIVE agreements make lasting friends. If you make an agreement, keep it. If you make an appointment, keep it.

A TRICKY lawyer, or tricky man cannot expect honest men to deal with them.

IF you get into a fight, whip the biggest one and the smaller ones will run. If you go into business tackle the biggest one.

THERE are no more hours in a day for the manager of a department store than the manager of a peanut stand.

WHO said that the substitution of "kill me quick" for good whiskey was "Prohibition?"

DID you ever hear of girl eloping who wore flannel under clothes? We think not. That kind don't elope. (P. S.—Who'd want 'em?)

TO admit an error is merely saying that you are wiser now than when you made the error.

EQUAL TO ALL DEMANDS

When your thoughts turn to spring wraps and you are distracted in trying to choose between the practicability of a coat and the graceful smartness of a cape, remember that it is easy to make a compromise. Some one has foreseen your difficulty in the choice of a wrap for all-round wear and solved it for you. The cape-coat is here in several delightful variations, one of them shown in the illustration.

Wool jersey or any of the soft, lightweight wool coatings, make wraps of this kind. Their capes are lined with crepe or satin, usually in a quiet contrasting color. The model pictured is equal to all weather emergencies. It is fastened with two large buttons and they make, with buttonholes, a smart decorative feature on the cape portion.

This illustration of the New Queen Broom Holder will give you an idea of how handy and simple it really is—No home is complete without this practical, convenient device. We have one for your home and want you to call and receive this useful household necessity with our compliments.

Sincerely,
Tonopah Hardware Co.
